Professional Background

Kent McNaughton is a Senior Advisor at Saunders Real Estate, serving South and Central Alabama.

A 1993 graduate of Auburn University in Montgomery, Kent holds a degree in Elementary Education. He went on to earn his master's degree in Elementary Education, along with certificates in both counseling and administration. Kent worked as a teacher, counselor and administrator for over 24 years in the Butler County School System.

As a teenager, Kent worked alongside his father manufacturing soft plastic fishing lures, while also growing up hunting and fishing in Butler County. His love of fishing and the outdoors prompted him to become the founder and owner of NetBait, a fishing tackle company he later sold to a national distributor in 2014.

Kent specializes in rural and recreational land, with a focus on small to mid-sized tracts suited for homesteads, mini farms, and transitional land. His experience includes properties with a mix of timber and open ground, hobby farms, and recreational tracts with strong wildlife presence, as well as properties offering flexibility for single-family homesites, livestock, or future subdivision. His local knowledge allows him to effectively position properties that balance usability, location, and long-term value.

Kent spends much of his spare time with his family, hunting and fishing on the family farm. Through his career in education and his involvement in the fishing and cattle communities, he has developed a wide network throughout Alabama, as well as extensive knowledge of the state's land and waterways.

Kent resides in Greenville with his wife, Chanda, and has four children: Erica, Madison, Parker and Caden.

Kent specializes in:

- Acreage and Estates
- Farms and Cropland
- Hunting and Recreational Land
